The 2016-17
Montana Challenge

The 2016-17 Challenge: Doing the Write Thing in Montana Schools

Montana's middle school students are invited to submit original writings on the impact of violence on their lives and how they are making a difference in their homes, schools, and communities.

Teachers will send us their students' writings. The top boys and girls from each participating school will be invited to Helena in April 2017, to be recognized at a celebration in their honor in Helena. From those students, one boy and one girl will be selected to represent Montana as our ambassadors in Washington, D.C., in July 2017

Inspire your students to Do the Write Thing and take a stand against youth violence in Montana!

Do the Write Thing Rules

- Students may use any form of written expression as long as the language is positive and not derogatory;
- Students may submit only one entry per year;
- All entries must be the students' original work;
- Entries should be 500-1,000 words;
- Entries must be typed or written legibly in black ink on one side of 8-1/2" x 11" paper, and pages should be numbered;
- Submit the original writing and one photocopy with the cover sheet; and
- Editing for content, grammar, or spelling by someone other than the student is not permitted.

Writing Topics

Student writings, at a minimum, should address the following three questions:

1. How has violence affected my life?
2. What are the causes of youth violence?
3. What can I do about youth violence?

Classroom Discussion

Here are some questions designed to generate discussion among your students before they write:

- * How does violence affect your daily lives?
- * Where are you confronted by violence? Your home? Your neighborhood? Your school?

- * What kind of violence have you experienced, either first- or second-hand?
- * What are some of the causes of youth violence in your school or community?
- * What can you do as an individual to reduce youth violence in your school or community?
- * What would you like your school or community to do, in order to prevent youth violence?

Send student writings by February 17, 2017, to the Montana Board of Crime Control at the following address:
