

Sample script for introducing families to PSB Diversion Pilot

“Help is available for you and your child if there is concern for problematic sexual behavior.

Concern for a child with problematic sexual behavior can be overwhelming, bringing a flood of emotions, from anger to sadness, denial, shame and guilt.

Support is vital at this challenging time. Children may participate in a treatment plan that is family-oriented and designed to eliminate problematic sexual behavior and ensure healthy, pro-social behavior in children, while reducing stress and supporting parents and caregivers.

A legal response for most children is not appropriate. The diversionary program offers a therapeutic and child/family-centered approach.”
