Do the Write Thing 2024-2025

DEAR PARTICIPATING MIDDLE SCHOOL EDUCATORS:

Thank you for involving your students in the 2024-2025 Do the Write Thing (DtWT) program. You will join hundreds of educators nationwide in a collective effort to provide students with the opportunity to share their experiences and insights on the impact of youth violence and to make personal commitments to reducing it.

This program can make a positive difference in your relationship with your students and help reduce the level of violence in your school. An educator from Chicago shared, "The Do the Write Thing program has been one of the most impactful experiences in my classroom throughout my years as an educator. After students had the chance to write about the issue of violence, the discussions that followed were both open and profoundly emotional. The outcome was far more positive than I could have ever imagined."

In July of 2025, if your student is selected as a National Ambassador, you will be invited to attend DtWT's National Recognition Summit in Washington, D.C. (travel and accommodations included).

During the National Recognition Summit, DtWT Student National Ambassadors meet with Members of Congress and other prominent leaders to discuss the problems of youth violence. In addition, the students are honored at an embassy reception hosted by the Ambassador of Kuwait to the United States. A highlight of the summit is that their published writing will be officially included in the Library of Congress. For more information about the National Recognition Summit please go to www.dtwt.org/recognition-week.

Enclosed is a packet titled Educator Handbook, which explains DtWT in more detail and includes further information on how to proceed. All of this information can also be downloaded from our website, www.dtwt.org/resources.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact us by phone or email. Thank you again for participating in this year's program. We wish your students success and hope to see you and one of your students in Washington, D.C. next July.

EDUCATOR HANDBOOK

DO THE WRITE THING 2024-2025

A CAMPAIGN TO STOP VIOLENCE

Overview

At the beginning of an academic year, educators facilitate discussions in their classrooms with three impactful questions:

1. How has violence affected my life?
2. What are the causes of youth violence?
3. What can I do to reduce youth violence?

Middle school students are encouraged to talk about the impact of violence in their lives by writing a song, poem or story while offering solutions to reduce violence. Through their writing and discussions, personal responsibility is emphasized.

“The year the DtWT program was implemented in our school in Zanesville, Ohio there was a 50% drop in student disciplinary visits to the office. I attribute that statistic directly to the Do the Write Thing program.”
Principal Adrian Williams at Zanesville Middle School

Please review the following materials concerning program rules, entry deadlines, selection criteria, classroom discussion, and student recognition before presenting the program to your students.

Primary Contacts

Amber Moyer

Program Director at DtWT

Amber learned about the DtWT program while working as the Program Coordinator for the Kuwait-America Foundation in 2002. Prior to working for the foundation, she worked as Marketing Director for ESPN and also worked as an event planner for the Winter Olympic and Paralympic Village. After a decade of Public Relations work, she switched professions to become an educator because her volunteer work in classrooms was so fulfilling. Amber has taught 3rd, 5th, and 6th grades, and has also served as an adjunct professor at a university, where she instructed future educators.

She has a wealth of knowledge about DtWT because she has served in so many capacities; Utah Chair, Utah Coordinator, DtWT Volunteer and is now thrilled to be working full time as the Program Director of Do the Write Thing.

Submission Deadline

All entries must be submitted with a Signed Cover Sheet to your local coordinator of Do the Write Thing

Find your local DtWT coordinator for submission deadlines:
www.dtwt.org/resources

Selection Criteria

JUDGING:

Entries will be reviewed by your jurisdiction's DtWT Committee, the coalition of business, community and governmental leaders that oversees and administers DtWT in your area. Entries will be selected on the basis of content, originality and responsiveness to the three questions:

- How has violence affected my life?
- What are the causes of youth violence?
- What can I do to reduce youth violence?

Grammar and spelling will not be used as criteria for selection.

WRITINGS EMPHASIS:

Students should be encouraged to describe what they feel are the causes of youth violence and to offer specific suggestions about what they as individuals can do to reduce violence in their homes, schools and neighborhoods. Personal responsibility for responding to the problem of youth violence should be emphasized. Students should be encouraged to share personal experiences about the impact of violence on their lives and the lives of their peers.

The panel of judges will be looking at how well your students present their views on these matters.

Classroom Discussion

QUESTIONS DESIGNED TO GENERATE DISCUSSION

- How does violence affect your daily lives?
- Where are you confronted by violence? Your home? Your school? Your neighborhood?
- What are some of the causes of youth violence in your community?
- What can you as an individual do to reduce youth violence in your community?

For lesson plans or other teaching ideas,
visit: www.dtw.org/resources

Common Core Standards

DtWT has been reviewed by a panel of highly qualified public school educators for compliance with Common Core standards. DtWT meets all of the English Language Arts Standards in Writing for Grades 6, 7 and 8 (Standards W.7.1 through W.7.10 and W.8.1 through W.8.10). Please note that we have determined Standards W.7.2 and W.8.2 to only be applicable to nonfiction submissions. (Please see attached schedule for more details on DtWT fulfilling Common Core Standards).

Writing is the core component of DtWT. After classroom discussions about youth violence, participating middle school students are asked by their educators to make a commitment not to be involved in violence and provide written answers to the three question prompts listed under Program Rules.

The DtWT experience is flexible, allowing for adaptation as needed by school districts and individual classrooms. Thus, the writing component of DtWT can cover significant portions of the Common Core State Standards for English Language Arts.

WRITING

Essays that address the first question, can fulfill 3.A-E for grades 6, 7, and 8.

Essays that address the second two questions can fulfill 1.A-E, 2.A-F, 7, 8, and 9 for grades 6, 7, and 8.

All essays can be used to fulfill 4 for grades 6, 7, and 8.

Depending on the level of educator involvement in students' writing for DtWT, the program can be used to fulfill 5 (peer review), 6 (technology), and 10 (writing over a range of time and revision) for grades 6, 7, and 8.

SPEAKING & LISTENING

Classroom discussions, before and after presenting DtWT can be used to fulfill 1.B-D for grades 6, 7, and 8.

Student Recognition

LOCAL LEVEL

Each jurisdiction participating in DtWT has established a DtWT Committee to coordinate the program. A jurisdiction may be a city, a county, a city-county combination or even an entire state. A listing of participating localities can be found on our website, www.dtwt.org/resources.

Most DtWT Committees will organize a recognition ceremony to honor a student from each participating middle school who are selected as National Student Ambassadors! In addition to the Student Ambassador from each school, you, along with the student's guardian and your principal, will be invited to attend the recognition ceremony. Most DtWT Committees will also publish the writings of all their School Student Ambassadors and distribute the publication to area community, business and governmental leaders.²

¹ Schools with fewer than twenty-five entries will be grouped together for review and School Ambassador selection purposes.

² While all DtWT Committees are encouraged to hold local recognition ceremonies and publish books of student writings, and while most local DtWT Committees do undertake these activities, the responsibility for organizing and funding these functions rests with each local Committee. Some start-up Committees do not initiate these functions during the early years of operation.

Student Recognition

NATIONAL LEVEL

Each DtWT Committee will designate one National Student Ambassador. The National Student Ambassador along with their educator and one guardian will be invited to attend the Do the Write Thing National Recognition Summit in Washington, D.C. in July of 2025.³

The majority of the costs for the National Recognition Summit will be paid for by our primary sponsor: the Kuwait-America Foundation. The people of Kuwait have donated money to the DtWT program for the past 30 years. This has been done to thank the American people for the liberation of Kuwait in 1991.

During past National Recognition Summits, National Student Ambassadors have met with a United States Supreme Court Justice, the United States Secretary of Education, the Attorney General of the United States, the United States Secretary of Interior, Members of Congress and many notable celebrities to discuss the problem of youth violence. A highlight of the National Recognition Summit is the inclusion of the 2024-2025 National Student Ambassadors' writings in the Library of Congress. In addition, National Student Ambassadors have been honored at embassy receptions hosted by the Ambassador of Kuwait.

³Jurisdictions must have at least 500 student writings to qualify for participation in the National Recognition Summit activities in Washington, D.C.

Benefits

DOCUMENTED BY THE
UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT EL PASO

EDUCATORS

- Facilitates discussions that result in greater tolerance and compassion

- Increases tolerance and reduces judgment regarding differences among peers
- Increases communication with peers and family members, rather than resorting to violence

PARENTS/GUARDIANS

- Initiates a better understanding of the impact of violence on their children
- Fosters an understanding of their child's concerns
- Improves communication at home with children and spouse
- Creates a greater awareness of violence in the school and community

DtWT Changes Minds

The Changing Minds campaign is sponsored by the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention. Based on scientific research from Harvard, the research reveals that a child's positive and negative experiences shape and reshape the brain. The more a child witnesses violence, the more neural connections are created in the regions of the brain that involve fear, anxiety and impulsiveness, while fewer are created in regions that involve reasoning, planning and behavior control. This increased stress can lead to "long-term behavioral and physiological disorders" including depression, drug abuse, diabetes, stroke and inflammation patterns.

However, the young brain is malleable. Fostering stable, supportive relationships can prevent or help reverse this damage, resulting in lifelong benefits for the child's learning, behavior, and overall health.

DtWT is a proven program that can mitigate the negative impact of violence on a child when educators and volunteers open pathways using the "Five Gestures" suggested by OJJDP to help heal a child

5 GESTURES TO HEAL A CHILD:

CELEBRATE

- Publicly recognize and praise children
- Encourage children to try new things and teach them about being kind and helpful to others
- Engage children in open ended thinking
- Encourage positive interactions between children and their peers and educators

COMFORT

- Offer children safe ways to express their feelings and ideas
- Help children empathize and take others' perspectives
- Expand children's network of consistently caring adults

LISTEN

- Publicly recognize and praise children
- Encourage children to try new things and teach them about being kind and helpful to others
- Engage children in open ended thinking
- Encourage positive interactions between children and their peers and educators

COLLABORATE

- Encourage children to think ahead by discussing challenges they would face in carrying out their plans and help them consider how they can prevent or solve them
- Guide students to first identify and understand their obstacles, communicate how they are feeling and describe the problems in their own words
- Acknowledge children's problem solving attempts whether or not the attempts are successful

INSPIRE

- Encourage children to spend time with other caring adults who can act as role models
- Help children develop strategies to bring them closer to short and long term goal success
- Support children's abilities to speak up when things go wrong or when they are victimized
- Help them become advocates for change
